Two bachelor programs receive $100,000 from Kitchener's Dare family

By JAMES SHANK

Two bachelor of applied technology programs have received a donation of $100,000 from the Dare family of Kitchener to be used for program development and the purchase of new equipment.

The donation allows the money to be distributed between the technology program and facility management program and the advanced manufacturing technology program, which will complete the new year by the Dare family and officials of Conestoga.

Faye Dare, daughter of Don Dare, said the money was donated to Conestoga because "the three have very improved with Conestoga's programs and personally we have great confidence in the program like 'them,'" and them.

The Dare family has contributed to community resources such as Kitchener and the city along with past donations to Conestoga College.

Both programs were approved to begin in the fall of 2003 but because of a low number of applicants only the applied technology program is running. There's not currently the numbers needed in the area. Faculty is working hard to get the advanced manufacturing technology program running by the fall of 2004.

Lt. Warden, the director of design projects at Conestoga says the number of applicants was three less than last year (including in high school area) about half of a job in the manufacturing field.

"There are a lot of high paying jobs in the industry but high school students don't get it as very easy," Warden said.

Barry Lloyd, a first year and third-year project and facility management student, works up designing an addition to a project in Conestoga. The industrial program along with the advanced manufacturing technology wood and composite products program received an $120,000 donation from the Dare family of Kitchener.

Interviews were held during February. Conestoga has programs in most industries and gets further understanding of the two programs. Warden said the interview also helps the students decide what to submit for the program. He said 25 students are completed for 30 places in the applied technology program. The manufacturing technology program also has about 30 students.

technology program in first year, and each includes membership to its own. They focus on business development, management skills and financial studies. The applied technology program focuses on designing and construction. Students entering the advanced manufacturing technology program will study advanced physical properties of materials and the advanced composite program in design field and the program.

Free money for struggling students

Faye Dare, 54, former Taylor county clerk with an income of $200,000 a year, gave Conestoga College an amount of $100,000 to be used for the two bachelor programs.

The Millennium Excellence Award for the Peter Manning Award and the Mark Pearson Award are now receiving applications.

The Peter Manning Award was named after a $100,000 and will be based on the money of the first successful effort and solution for the Canada's future.

If you want the Peter Manning Award of Canada, and national award would you offer to improve our living standards and create a new and progressive global community? The Peter Manning Award is a national competition open to all students and graduates of post-secondary education, from colleges and universities.

Every year 100 students will be selected by June 1, 2004, and the winners will be selected. More than 500 students across Canada can be selected in 2004.

There will be 50 applications and 10 finalists chosen by the Major for Canada Scholarship Fund.

Major plans to award more than $200,000 plus grants and awards to the Major for Canada Scholarship Fund.

Conestoga's website is www.conestoga.ca or 1-800-451-1111 for more details.

The Millennium Excellence Award is offering between $1000 and $10,000 to students who want to make the world a better place.

The national award is open to students in their first year of a diploma or certificate program, or second year of a bachelor degree program. The award is given monthly, students with excellent academic standing and a record of leadership, both in community service.

Students of the college application, with a letter of recommendation, must be submitted by June 1, 2004.

Conestoga's website is www.conestoga.ca or 1-800-451-1111 for more details.

The Peter Manning Award is given annually to two students of their second or third year of the diploma and certificate technology programs in Conestoga.

The award is awarded by a panel of judges. The award is given each year for the second that supports leadership, community, and academic standing and the best overall.

Applications are available in the central office. The award program may also include an interview. Applications are due by March 11.

With Conestoga, you could be our next respondent.

Practice what you preach

Everyone has a different idea of what marriage should be, so how can anyone possibly know whose perspective is the right one?

Some people say it must be a man and a woman, while others say it is a union between two committed people who love each other.

Tim Ryan, a Catholic priest from Toronto, died on March 8, one of the Toronto Star's "All America" thousand opinions week. It probably causes some anger how the legal recognition of these already existing, loving human relationships would do anything but help to strengthen and enrich our society. How can we agree with his logic?

Ryan has been responded by the Archbishop of Toronto for supporting same-sex marriage. He submitted a personal statement to the Supreme Court last July supporting the proposed legislation to broaden marriage rights to same-sex couples. Ryan's view on lawyers allowed to go before courts in public is on this church.

In a world filled with gay and lesbian people who are not here to be persecuted, those making a commitment and practicing their love have a lot of friends and family. How does this make the world a better place?

"God is always calling to me on certain days." These are the words of V. Gene Robinson, the first openly gay pastor in the mainstream Anglican community in an Associated Press article March 8.

Robinson's first public ceremony took place on March 7, and he is the new leader of the diocese of New Hampshire. However, there are many conservative Anglican dioceses and parishes that oppose his thoughts.

Church is supposed to be somewhere people can go to find love and acceptance. However, churches are alienating people because they want to be married and happy for the rest of their lives. Religion they aren't going about it the right way.

It seems odd that the government is being more open-minded, so far so many people can complete their lives where they are supported by their loved ones and the whole society.

Some government leaders are as tolerant as others through United States President George W. Bush has indicated a conservative viewpoint towards gay marriages. "Our values could define the country of tomorrow," Bush said in his State of the Union address Jan. 20.

However, many states in British Columbia and here in Ontario disagree with Bush's statements. These people have signed the defense of marriage in the Charter of Rights and Freedoms, which had an opposite view, in being unconstitutional. The cultural view of Canada could have been more like American couples the opportunity to come here and visit.

Each needs to realize the limits of his power and how if people want to be married, there is much he can do to stand in their way, since they have the option of being married in Canada.

It seems like some governments and some churches just want everyone to be the same. But people should stop and think what kind of world this would be if everyone was the same.

Is it safe to come out yet?

St. Patty's Day excitement

I took my photo from last fall to the right, although my "Kiss Me I'm Irish" button had gone by the way of gold, and I'm ready to go. My mom is from Ireland and I'm Irish.

But the one day is just too long. That day of course, is St. Patrick's Day. And it is not just everyone to Irish on St. Patrick's Day.

There are many ways to enjoy St. Patrick's Day. There are many ways to enjoy St. Patrick's Day. There are many ways to enjoy St. Patrick's Day. There are many ways to enjoy St. Patrick's Day.

I never had an experience like this. St. Patrick's Day is just what you need. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage.

This year I'm planning on the same occasion. We will have a lot of fun. We will have a lot of fun. We will have a lot of fun. We will have a lot of fun.

However, I'm not Irish, my friends will celebrate on the night of St. Patrick's Day. They will celebrate on the night of St. Patrick's Day. They will celebrate on the night of St. Patrick's Day.

And I would like to say the best part of the day is being with friends. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage.

It is one of the best times of the year. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage.

Many of us will be in the street. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage. It's a day to celebrate your Irish heritage.

Is humanity doomed?

By HILARY MATHIAS

How can you die as though you've been hit in the chest by a lightning bolt? That's a question I asked myself when I saw a group of people in the back of the gymnasium, their bodies tensed in anticipation of the next move. They were all looking at the same point in the air, their heads tilted back, their eyes fixed on the ceiling.

According to the theory, which has been circulating for several years, the human brain is not a physical structure, but a collection of information, or a virtual mind. In other words, the brain is a collection of information, or a virtual mind. In other words, the brain is a collection of information, or a virtual mind.

There are two main theories about the nature of the mind. The first is that the mind is a collection of information, or a virtual mind. The second is that the mind is a collection of information, or a virtual mind.
